

Department of Sociology
MSc Sociology

Violence and Abuse

Violence and abuse are significant social problems that exist on a global level. There are many different forms of violence and abuse, including forced marriage, child sexual abuse, domestic violence, elder abuse, rape, sexual assault, sexual harassment, and crimes committed under the guise of 'honour'.

Violence and Abuse

The Centre for Research into Violence and Abuse (CRiVA) is dedicated to improving knowledge about interpersonal violence and abuse, as well as professional and societal responses to it. Join us to hear from leading researchers who are passionate about working in partnership with organisations to use academic research to create real world change.

Inspiring the extraordinary

Professor Nicole Westmarland is the author of five books and many articles on the topic of violence and abuse

Become a member of the Centre for Research into Violence and Abuse (CRiVA)
Get in touch with us now at durham.criva@durham.ac.uk to join our mailing list